

HOMESITE JUDGING

3-4 Member Team

IMPORTANT NOTE

Please thoroughly read the General CDE Rules Section at the beginning of this handbook for complete rules and procedures that are relevant to State FFA Career Development Events.

I. PURPOSE

The purpose of the homesite judging contest is to increase awareness of the importance of our soil resources and educate students on the diversity of soils. The contest will introduce them to the basics of soil assessment and proper management for agricultural and urban land uses.

II. OBJECTIVES

- A. Teach students the basic physical and chemical characteristics of soil that impact the agricultural productivity of soils.
- B. Teach students the basic soil characteristics that influence the soils susceptibility to erosion and proper conservation practices.
- C. Teach students how physical characteristics of soil influence the suitability of a site for urban development.

III. EVENT RULES

- A. No talking, comparing, or copying of cards.
- B. Clear plastic clipboards are allowed.
- C. No water bottles. Water to moisten soil will be provided as needed.
- D. No bubble vial, tape measure, or other measuring devices are allowed.
- E. The land-judging handbook shall be used to resolve contest differences and should be used in setting up and conducting all contests.
- F. Decisions of the judges will be FINAL!
- G. The high three scores will be considered as the official team score.
- H. Transportation to and from the actual contest site is the responsibility of the FFA chapters and will not be provided.
- I. The top five (5) teams selected at the OSU Interscholastic contest will be eligible to represent Oklahoma in the National Land Judging contest held annually during the first week in May in Oklahoma City. Contact the State FFA for details.
- J. The most recent Land Judging Manual No. 4H.HPS.101, used for the National Land Judging School and Contest, will be the authority for rules, placing, and grading. This manual can be downloaded in pdf format at www.landjudging.com and hard copies can be requested from Jason Warren through e-mail Jason.warren@okstate.edu
